Building Drawings

Facilities & Operations is not responsible for the distribution of building blueprints, building drawings, or floor plans for campus buildings, but we frequently receive requests for them, primarily from U-M students working on projects for one of their classes.

The Facilities Information Center (FIC) staff organize, maintain, preserve and provide access to records that support the University's facilities, land and infrastructure. Access to most facility records, including master floor plans, design and construction drawings and other project records are limited to internal F&O and U-M personnel. Record requests from external users will be considered on a case-by-case basis and access must be approved by the Architectural, Engineering and Construction group or other source authority. Students requesting building records will require a faculty sponsor.

In general, building records are restricted to Facility and Operations staff and specific university facility staff based on their position and job requirements. File types may be restricted based on use and distribution. Floor plans are limited for facility management, security management, and faculty sponsored academic requests.

To request building records, internal F&O staff should submit a request ticket via the F&O Staff Intranet. External users should submit a building records request form.
